BIO

As part of Peoples Company's nationally recognized team of land professionals, Amy Oberlander is dedicated to delivering the expertise, integrity, and results that define the company's reputation. Rooted in Nebraska values and driven by a genuine passion for land and people, Amy brings a balanced and informed approach to every transaction.

With hands-on experience in agricultural investment and property appraisal, she offers clients a well-rounded perspective that blends financial understanding with practical land knowledge. Amy works with clients across Nebraska on farmland, acreage, and investment properties—providing guidance grounded in market data, personal connection, and lived agricultural experience.

Whether helping a first-time buyer or coordinating the sale of a legacy property, Amy is committed to building trust and creating lasting value. Her approach reflects a dedication to transparency, long-term relationships, and helping clients make confident, informed decisions about their land.

Outside of real estate, Amy enjoys spending time with friends and family and being outdoors. She partners with her family on their row-crop and feedlot operation and is also a board-certified hospice nurse.
