BIO

My deep knowledge and passion for real estate brokerage has developed over the last 20 years spent concentrating on acquisition, development and construction of many types of opportunities. My real estate background includes agricultural, industrial, retail, office, complex property entitlement and general engineering projects.

From family roots in dry land farming, to current involvement as a vineyard owner and wine maker, I have over 30 years of hands on experience with direct ties to the agriculture community. These collective experiences have equipped me with a war chest of ideas and creative approaches to tackle difficult problems requiring workable solutions. My approach to each and every transaction and opportunity is the belief that when complex issues arise, there is always a solution to be found.

Born and raised in Walla Walla and a proud father and husband, my favorite personal time is coaching my beautiful and talented daughters in year around softball tournaments in California, Colorado, Illinois, Washington and even Florida.

I am excited to be a team member of AgriBusiness Trading Group and with my extensive experience, will be able to further our commitment to unparalleled customer service, extreme integrity, unmatched professionalism and obsession to always put our client's needs before our own.
