BIO

Growing up on her father's farm, Emily grew a love for agriculture and helping farmers. This love led her to Peoples Company, where she combines her passion for agriculture and design into one. Emily started with Peoples Company in 2024 and brings with her experience specializing in printed materials such as brochures, flyers, books, postcards, marketing design, and brand identity. Before working for Peoples Company, she was a freelance designer and developed her business management and organization skills. Emily likes to work closely with her clients to bring their vision to life, while adding individuality to the design so it stands out. She holds her designs to a high standard and strives to create high-quality work that meets Peoples Company's and our clients' expectations.

Outside of working, Emily enjoys staying creative by sketching and painting. She loves to go out and dance, tour local breweries, and play board games with friends. You can also find her in the kitchen baking something tasty to satisfy her sweet tooth.

EDUCATION

Emily graduated from Des Moines Area Community College in May 2024 with an associate's degree in graphic design.
